03 August 2026 — 09 August 2026

Report Summary

Business Report for DevNix Medical & General Store

Period: 03 August 2026 to 09 August 2026

Sales Performance

- Total Sales (Week of August 3 - August 9, 2026): Exact sales figures during this specific period are not available, but significant sales events were noted as follows:
- August 6, 2026: Daily sales reported at Rs 3,200.
- August 8, 2026: This day recorded the highest single day Paracetamol sales ever with 35 strips sold. Additionally, 50 sachets of ORS were sold on the same day.

Key Products Sold

- Paracetamol: Best-selling item on August 8 with 35 strips sold.
- ORS (Oral Rehydration Solution): A total of 50 sachets sold on August 8, likely driven by local viral fever cases.
- B-Complex: Continued success with 12 bottles sold over 3 days.
- Vicks VapoRub: Outstanding week with 10 pieces sold, marking the best week ever for this product.

Inventory Management

- An emergency purchase was made for additional stock on August 8 due to sudden demand surges, indicating that inventory management could be enhanced to avoid such situations in the future.

Fixed Expenses

- Monthly Fixed Costs: Rs 20,000 for rent and salaries.
- To break even, the store needs to maintain at least Rs 30,000 in monthly sales, highlighting the importance of sustained sales growth.

Customer Feedback and Concerns

- There were complaints from two customers regarding expired ORS in July, indicating a need for better inventory management practices to regularly check expiry dates.
- Positive customer feedback was received, including a recommendation by a satisfied customer to her apartment society, demonstrating effective word-of-mouth marketing.

Operational Costs

- Salary Payment: Rs 12,000 paid on August 10 for staff.
- Internet Bill: Rs 699 paid during this period, reflecting ongoing operational expenses.

Outlook

- The overall sentiment is cautiously optimistic for the month of August, with expectations for strong sales continuing due to the ongoing demand for health and hygiene products during the monsoon season.
- Preparation for peak sales days on August 8-10, as well as positive sales momentum recorded in early August, suggests a favorable trend.

Conclusion

During the week of August 3-9, 2026, DevNix Medical & General Store exhibited solid sales performance, particularly with key healthcare products responding well to local health trends. However, there is an identified need to address inventory management to prevent issues with expired products and to optimize stock levels to accommodate peak demand efficiently. Continued focus on customer service and expansion of product offerings based on consumer feedback could enhance business performance further in the coming weeks.
